

S. A. T. C. SHOWED VALUE OF MOTIVE IN EDUCATION

Dean Hawkes Tells Alumni War Regime Taught Great Lesson.

HAS CHANGED THE STUDENT VIEWPOINT

Realize That Leadership And Promotion Are Dependent On Education.

"One of the big things that Columbia has learned from the Students Army Training Corps was the importance of a motive in education," said Dean H. E. Hawkes in a speech which he delivered Wednesday afternoon before the returned Alumni at their Annual Reunion Day celebration.

"As long as the men had a chance of being transferred to a central officers training school, they worked harder than any group of students, I have seen," Dean Hawkes said. "But as soon as the armistice was signed their motive was gone and little annoyances, such as noise or light that was not the best, became great annoyances to them."

"Few of us had seen motive at such close range working with such great effective force, and we felt that it would be very much to our discredit if we failed to discover or evolve a new motive for the men who remained in college and those who came back from the army or entered as new students. And we believe we have discovered a motive. With the men who return from the army the motive is education as a means of leadership. They have seen that the men with education and intellectual powers are the men who lead and they are returning with that knowledge as their motive. The most permanent motive our experience has already shown is the professional motive; that is, taking courses in the college that are in preparation for admission to the professional schools, such as our pre-

SOPHOMORES ATTENTION.

An important meeting will be held at noon today in 301 Hm. All come.

Lieut. "Ed" Earle Married.

Saint Paul chapel witnessed a distinctly Columbia marriage last Tuesday when Lieutenant Edward M. Earle '17, and Miss Beatrice Lowndes '17B, were married by the Rev Paul Kemp of Haverstraw. "Ed" Earle was one of the most popular and most active men on the campus just before this country entered the war. He was notably captain of the debating team and chairman of the Student Board. After graduation he managed the Appointment Office, then received a commission in the Air Service. Miss Lowndes was herself president of the Student Board of Barnard College while at Columbia. She was attended by Miss Dorothy Mullett of Mount Vernon, and Rene Wormser '18, was the best man. The pair has gone to California on their wedding trip.

FROSH SONG FEST SET FOR MONDAY

Preparations for the coming Frosh Song Fest will be completed at the Soph meeting, which is to be held this noon in Room 301 Hm. All Freshmen have been warned to be well prepared by Monday noon, when they will be called upon to demonstrate their ability to render the College songs contained in the 1918-1919 Blue Book.

At the close of the 11 o'clock classes Monday noon, Sophomores will be on hand to usher the '22 men into South Field, where the singing is to take place. It is rumored that a supply of iodine is being procured for the benefit of those luckless Frosh who fail to satisfy the demands of the '21 men. Those unable to sing the songs whose tunes are seldom heard about the campus, will be allowed to pass if they succeed in reciting correctly the words of all the verses and chorus. None of the verses are to be omitted in any case. The class songs will not be required.

Those Freshmen who expect to avoid singing by failing to appear on

VARSITY STILL CONTINUES ON LOSING STREAK

Princeton Comes Out On Top After Hard-Fought Contest —Score 16-11.

ERRATIC SHOOTING HANDICAPS TEAM

Large Alumni Day Crowd Makes Record Attendance For Season.

After a very hard fought basketball game on Alumni Day, the Lion was forced to bow to defeat by the Tigers for the second time this season. The score was 16-11. At the end of the first half the teams were in a deadlock at 7 points. During the early part of the second half Princeton managed to score several baskets. This gave the visitors a lead which they held throughout the remainder of the contest.

The game was featured by the excellent team work of both fives. The Columbia men showed great fight and aggressiveness and did not give the Orange and Black quintet a minute's rest or a basket which was not bitterly contested for. There was no one player whose work placed him in the position of an individual star, nor was there any selfish playing. The Lion quintet played as if it were a single man, everyone working together.

The advantage which the Princeton team held over the Columbia five was its ability to cage the ball, especially from near the middle of the court. The blue and white quintet was unable to make many long shots, the game was so closely contested that

(Continued on Page 3)

Daring Freshman Challenges The Soph Class And Meet

Interclass activity was given a decided impetus for the first time this afternoon when a freshman challenged a sophomore class and defeated them by sinking

FIFTY-TWO ARE O

Plaided Pleased didates but Varsity

Acting Coach announces that he at present no 1 Freshmen and two dates for crew. S Coxswain. "Pros" man crew have not declared the Coach for much more Va Practice on "Yell continue until the when the men will blade work on the the pool. The mic see the crewsters o more. The Colum water has been at quarters of the oars and oars have been Gold Boathouse o river, which will be for all spring pract will enable all cand afternoon's work in of three as under th Plans are under w terecollegiate but als regattas, and intercl announcements on tl coming.

PLAN SERIES OF MENORA

A series of mass Jewish men on the arranged under the co of the Zionist and on the campus. The (ngs will be held in Wednesday evening various Jewish subject ing way will be a fea ing. Co-operation of the Jewish activities has to secure prominent mass meetings.

"One of the big things that Columbia has learned from the Students Army Training Corps was the importance of a motive in education," said Dean H. E. Hawkes in a speech which he delivered Wednesday afternoon before the returned Alumni at their Annual Reunion Day celebration.

"As long as the men had a chance of being transferred to a central officers training school, they worked harder than any group of students, I have seen," Dean Hawkes said. "But as soon as the armistice was signed their motive was gone and little annoyances, such as noise or light that was not the best, became great annoyances to them.

"Few of us had seen motive at such close range working with such great effective force, and we felt that it would be very much to our discredit if we failed to discover or evolve a new motive for the men who remained in college and those who came back from the army or entered as new students. And we believe we have discovered a motive. With the men who return from the army the motive is education as a means of leadership. They have seen that the men with education and intellectual powers are the men who lead and they are returning with that knowledge as their motive. The most permanent motive, our experience has already shown, is the professional motive; that is, taking courses in the college that are in preparation for admission to the professional schools, such as our pre-engineering courses. The men who enter college with the idea of continuing their university training through one of the professional schools possesses a motive that is lacking in the boy who just wants to go through college.

Change Beneficial To Many.

"We are also going to present a new point of view to our freshmen in some studies. It is the result of our experience in the teaching of the "War Issues" course in the S.A.T.C. The freshman will have five hours a week in history, government, economics and philosophy, with close collaboration among the instructors in these subjects. In the study of history we propose to break away from the old plan of beginning with the beginning of history and working up to the present. Instead we will start with the present history and work backwards. Of course this plan does not interfere with the higher forms of history study, but will be applied to the boys in their first year in college. They will be taught the fundamentals of our present state of operating train and chairman of the Student Board. After graduation he managed the Appointment Office, then received a commission in the Air Service. Miss Lowndes was herself president of the Student Board of Barnard College while at Columbia. She was attended by Miss Dorothy Mullett of Mount Vernon, and Rene Wormser '18, who was the best man. The pair has gone to California on their wedding trip.

(Continued on Page 2)

FROSH SONG FEST SET FOR MONDAY

Preparations for the coming Frosh Song Fest will be completed at the Soph meeting, which is to be held this noon in Room 301 Hm. All Freshmen have been warned to be well prepared by Monday noon, when they will be called upon to demonstrate their ability to render the College songs contained in the 1918-1919 Blue Book.

At the close of the 11 o'clock classes Monday noon, Sophomores will be on hand to usher the '22 men into South Field, where the singing is to take place. It is rumored that a supply of iodine is being procured for the benefit of those luckless Frosh who fail to satisfy the demands of the '21 men. Those unable to sing the songs whose tunes are seldom heard about the campus, will be allowed to pass if they succeed in reciting correctly the words of all the verses and chorus. None of the verses are to be omitted in any case. The class songs will not be required.

Those Freshmen who expect to avoid singing by failing to appear on South Field at the appointed time, will find themselves in trouble if they venture on the campus during the first part of next week. Since only those who pass the singing test will receive the tags procured especially for the purpose, the evaders will be known by their lack of such a tag and will be forced to give an individual exhibition in some conspicuous part of the campus.

A committee of seventeen Sophomores has been appointed by President Mills to see that all rules regarding the singing are strictly enforced. The members of this committee are, Garrigus, Hahn, Watkins, Curnan, Kienninger, Forsythe, Nevin, Collins, Fitzgibbons, Horan, Schiff, DeFronzo, Sager, Alexander, Reich, Kappes, and Kalinski.

Juniors and Sophomores!

Columbian offers the positions of Advertising Manager on the 1920 and 1921 Boards to the men securing the largest number of ads. All those interested report to the Columbian Desk at noon.

After a very hard fought basketball game on Alumni Day, the Lion was forced to bow to defeat by the Tigers for the second time this season. The score was 16-11. At the end of the first half the teams were in a deadlock at 7 points. During the early part of the second half Princeton managed to score several baskets. This gave the visitors a lead which they held throughout the remainder of the contest.

The game was featured by the excellent team work of both sides. The Columbia men showed great fight and aggressiveness and did not give the Orange and Black quintet a minute's rest or a basket which was not bitterly contested for. There was no one player whose work placed him in the position of an individual star. There was there any selfish playing. The Lion quintet played as if it were a single man, everyone working together.

The advantage which the Princeton team held over the Columbia five was its ability to cage the ball, especially from near the middle of the court. The blue and white quintet was unable to make many long shots, the game was so closely contested that

(Continued on Page 3)

Daring Freshman Challenge Soph Class And

Interclass activity was given a decided impetus for the first time this year yesterday afternoon when a pitched battle was staged in front of Hamilton Hall between a group of Sophomores and a single Freshman who was determined to "clean up the whole '21 class."

The noon gong brought the usual crowd out of Hamilton Hall and with it came a lone 1922 man with a beautiful, emblazoned necktie, and cuffs on his trousers that challenged the Sophs to action. His socks though not actually seen by the spectators was reported to be a pink with blue dots. Bravely though supposedly unconscious of the reception awaiting him the culprit advanced toward the enemy. A concerted rush that savored of the old-fashioned flying tandem threw the '22 man half way up, between the Romance languages and the home of the Germanic tongues. When he alighted again he had three Sophs standing on him; and the remaining members of the second year group contented themselves with merely sitting on the unfortunate one.

It was at this point with nothing loose except his tongue that the daring one challenged the entire Sophomore defiance 1 formed te of their 1 was enou tors into 1 man onlo evidently the Secon Samson. Everybo moment a mass and arrived o giant had his necktie led most p tum of th resurrectir time later certain of a ladder s to the bal Hamilton and his d Although fict betw on either s cast that t classes mi aspect of men seem

Plans are tercollegiat regattas, an announcem coming.

PLAN S I M I

A series Jewish met arranged ut of the Zio on the camp ing will 1 Wednesday various Jev ing way wi ing.

Co-operat Jewish act to secure mass meet

Spectator
 Tuesday and Friday
 weekly. Morningside
 City.
 Issued May 21, 1919
 New York, N.Y., under the Columbia University.
 No. 1100

Price 5 cents.
BOARD
 Editor-in-Chief
 Business Manager
EDITORIAL COMMITTEE
 Chairman
 W. A. Funcke '19
 '18
BOARD
 H. M. Rogers '19
 J. M. Johnson '20
EDITORIAL BOARD
 G. B. Biggs '21
 R. D. B. Collins '21
 H. A. Artz '20
BOARD
 J. Litt '20
 T. C.
SELLER
 '20
EDITOR
 '19
INTERVIEWS
 '20

May 14, 1919.
 For this Issue.
 UNZWEIG

SHOW.
 Players Club to hold a Columbia
 in 1920 unless it can be raised on that the underlying to back a
 the matter en-
 of the students.
 were taken last
 pus production
 sum was given
 had been pledg-
 mates to guar-
 It would seem
 b has made the conditions as ch to make the
 its for the stag-
 on the scale of ze suggested to he presentation
 aller productions
 loping material
 middle course
 own production
 shows the plan

STRONGER TEAM FACES PRINCETON

Polo Players Anxious to Repeat Previous Record Made in Princeton Tank.

Tomorrow night the only swimming meet of the season with Princeton will be held in the Tiger's tank.
 The Columbia teams leave with an additional week's practice since the Yale meet and several new men, which make the prospects seem much more hopeful than for the initial meet.

The water-polo team has been working especially hard during the week in order to repeat their record of last year, when the Princeton poloists were vanquished in their home pool for the first time in 8 years.

Swimming prospects have also been boosted by the appearance of a new man who will be seen in action for the first time, G. Rogers '19, formerly of the Cornell Swimming Team.
 He will enter the sprints with P.
 Garrigus '21, who is getting back into shape and is expected to be back in his old form in the 220 race.
 The partial recovery of R. Mabie '20, who will compete for the first time
 this season, completes the muchstraightened Columbia entry list in the sprints. The rest of the lineup will be practically the same as last Saturday night.

Coach Helm states that since the season has just begun candidates are wanted in every line. Each man appearing is assured a try-out by reporting at the pool at four o'clock
 any afternoon next week. Freshmen are especially wanted at the same time as candidates for the '22 Team,
 for which Acting-Manager Neuman
 '20 is now arranging a schedule.

TRACKMEN ENTERED IN JUNIOR NATIONALS

The Blue and White Trackmen will enter their first competition tomorrow evening when Schnars, Larson, Huelsenbeck, and Shepard run in the Medley Relay at the Junior National Championships at the 13th Regiment Armory. The above will run the 440, 220, 220 and three mile, respectively.

The only other big things for the team which have thus far been announced are the Penn Relays on April 25 and 26, and a meet with Brown on South Field, May 10. A full schedule for the track team is in

MOTIVE OF VALUE IN AN EDUCATION

(Continued from Page 1)

society and then studies will be made of the origin of the present status of affairs. These inquiries will take us to various epochs that contributed ideas leading to the phase of history we are studying."

The exercises began in the forenoon with demonstrations and exhibitions of the University's contributions to war service and concluded with the basketball game in which Princeton defeated the Varsity five by the close score of 16 to 11.

In the Department of Engineering, which trained officers to take charge of the system of wireless telephony between airplanes and airplanes and between airplanes and the ground, and in which special apparatus was developed for laboratory demonstration, the visiting alumni were given opportunity to hold conversations, by wireless. The Mechanical Engineering Laboratory was open to visitors for the first time since the United States entered the war and among the equipment and apparatus exhibited was a complete submarine chaser engine room equipment.

At a meeting held at 3 o'clock in the University Commons addresses were made by Dr. Nicholas Murray
 Butler, president of the university,
 Dean Herbert E. Hawkes of Columbia College, Dean George B. Pegram of the Schools of Mines, Engineering and Chemistry and Prof.
 Adam Leroy Jones, director of the Department of Admissions, all of whom told of the university's war
 work and its plans for the future.
 Stephen G. Williams, a graduate of both the College and the Law School, presided. A reception and tea was held in Earl Hall following the meeting, and at 6:45 P.M. the annual dinner was held in the Commons. The annual election of officers of the Alumni Federation preceded the basketball game, which was followed by a dance in the gymnasium.

The following were elected officers
 of the Federation:
 President—S. G. Williams '21, '23
 Ph. D.
 First Vice-Pres.—T. Ewing '25.
 Second Vice-Pres.—J. V. Bouvier
 '26, '28, L.
 Third Vice-Pres.—R. Lewis '25 M.
 Recording Sec'y.—E. J. Moeller
 '25 P.A.
 Treasurer—C. E. Haydock '01.
 The following men were elected
 Directors of the Alumni

Charles Fri
APOTHECA
 "In Business for You"
 TWO STORES
 Whittier Hall

Methodical use
 For essays, class notes and other data.
 They hold sheets without punching.
 Also the Elbe clip Binders and Snap Binders.
 For sale at the
 COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY PRESS BO
 JOURNALISM BUILDING
 ELBE FILE AND BINDER CO.,

THE FIRST RUSH
 come to the store and bro

 AT THE
Columbia University Press
 2960 BROADWAY

Our Motto—The Cream of

